AccountMate Accounting Software Upgrade Improves Budgeting and Inventory Management

AccountMate 9.4 for SQL Accounting System Release Includes Support of the ACA Reporting Program

PETALUMA, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- AccountMate Software Corporation has released yet another update to one of its accounting software system product lines. AccountMate 9.4 for SQL delivers a number of enhancements mostly requested by their clients. Although AccountMate software is sold through a dedicated Solution Provider channel, the suggested new feature and function inclusions are usually recommended directly from the people using the software or via their own AccountMate Solution Providers. The significance of this is that AccountMate delivers the types of features and benefits that directly help clients with improvements to their efficiencies and financial growth.

David Dierke, President & CEO of AccountMate, commented, "Our policy of incorporating impressive enhancements continues. It is evident in a number of the new features in this latest Build update of AccountMate 9.4 for SQL and Express."

Some of the AccountMate 9.4 for SQL enhancements that Mr. Dierke references are:

- Provides capability to manually enter or input data for Forms 1094 and 1095 (Affordable Care Act Reporting Program Enhancement)

- Allows option to limit the number of paid leave hours for an accrual year

- Separates out the Budget Statement into two separate reports: Budgeted Balance Sheet and Budgeted Income Statement to provide flexibility in adding criteria

- Provides feature for companies that have activated the IFRS functionality to generated IFRS-ready budgeted financial statements

- Supports US-industry accepted methods of presenting Multiple Step Format vs. Single Step Format Budgeted Income Statement

- Provides option to provide step-by-step instructions for Bill of Materials by use of an added instruction tab. This Instruction tab allows users to provide instructions for each single step in the Bill of Materials

- Saves time and effort with a sequence feature that provides the flexibility to rearrange the bins from which items will be picked for shipment

The AccountMate products are sold by the module and, at release time, enhancements are usually made throughout the product suite. This AccountMate 9.4 for SQL follows this same convention.

An additional value-add is that the AccountMate clients have the option to have their modules customized to allow flexibility through the AccountMate source code to have their system adhere to their own preferences for managing their processes. Enhancements made in Version upgrades and Build updates are meant to mainstream the types of features that the AccountMate team is seeing a majority of the clients expecting in a mature product.
