ACCOUNTMATE IN PRODUCT BETA

AccountMate has entered a beta program for its next-generation Enterprise product. The beta program will end on June 28 for what will be THE product for the software company. "This newest product line represents our FUTURE - yours and ours," CEO David Dierke recently wrote to resellers in in a company newsletter. Training is mandatory—no orders will be taken unless resellers have completed it. While training is required, participating in the beta program is optional. There is also an Express edition of the Enterprise product.
